$50 MURDER

70-Year-Old Killed For Pension Cheque

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Slaying of an elderly waterfront recluse became known today as the $50-murder.

Pollack said the first old age pension cheque received by William Best, 70, whose disabled body was found in his dinghy boat-house home last night, was missing.

Best's body with six head wounds, possibly inflicted by an axe, was discovered when police investigated the report of a nearby fishboat dweller that there were no signs of life around Best's home.

There were signs of a fierce struggle. The small house, built on a float of logs, had been ransacked. He had been dead for several days.

A shotgun had blasted one window of the boat-house and police today were dragging adjacent waters in a search for the gun.

Early Spring Said Deadline

All Alberta housing accommodation will be freed of present rent controls probably by early Spring, and both landlords and tenants will have access to a provincial government "grievance" board.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Premier E. C. Manning.

Legislation will be brought before the February session of the Alberta legislature to set up a "grievance" board to adjudicate cases of alleged rent exploitation by either landlord or tenant.

Mr. Manning stressed that it was hoped the scheme would encourage establishing of rents by landlords and tenants on a basis satisfactory to both owner and renter.

ASK OTTAWA TO PETITE

If the proposed legislation is approved by the legislature, the Dominion government will be asked to retire from the field of rent control in Alberta, unless a Supreme Court decision meanwhile rules rent control is not within the jurisdiction of Alberta and other provinces.

Mr. Manning said the provincial legislation will not extend to new construction or to property already controlled by the Dominion government.

POSSIBLE EFFECTS

Those who have studied the proposals say the Alberta scheme will result:

1. A possible general increase in rents on Dominion controls are dropped.
2. The 18 to 22 per cent increase in rents authorized by the federal government and effective after Dec. 15 will not be altered by the Alberta government's scheme.
3. Possibility that fewer one-year leases required after Dec. 15 under present regulations will be offered by landlords, since they will have the opportunity of negotiating new rent deals with tenants.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

The matter of rent control has been carefully considered by the Government and was fully discussed at a caucus of Government members of the Legislature last week. These deliberations have led to our conclusion:

1. Obviously it is the intention of the Dominion Government to pass over to the Provinces at the earliest possible date the problem of rent control together with the many classifications which the "Continued on Page 2"

Quaker Coach Change Soon

Saskatoon Quaker fans are speculating today that their bottom-of-the-league hockey team may have a new coach by tomorrow morning.

It is rumored in Saskatoon today that Nick Metz, former National Hockey League great with the Toronto Maple Leafs, is to be replaced.

Team manager Bill Hunter has said a change is impending.

Mentioned as possible successors in Metz are three players on the team—Ken "Red" Hunter, Tommy Burlington and Big Vic Myles.

The name of former Edmonton puck chaser Mac Colville has also been bandied about as a possible replacement for Metz.

It is expected an official announcement of the change will be made tonight or early tomorrow by Quaker officials.

CN Worker Killed On Job

A 26-year-old CNR brakeman, A. Keith Brown, 1805-128 street, was killed at noon today in an accident at R.R. 7.

The young air force veteran is reported to have died beneath the wheels of a caboose during switch operations in the R.R. yard.

It is believed he may have been struck from behind when a section of a way-drift was being shunted.

Brown was head end brakeman on train 792, the "through freight" on the R.R. line. A yard, or local, freight was stopped in the way at the same time.

He had worked for the CNR since August, 1948.

Unmarried, he lived with his parents at 1907-128 street. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, Robert D. and a sister, Marion.

Rail Board Unsound CP Says in Court

Railway Is Caustic Of Way It Says Rates 'Frozen' For Years

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Canadian railway rate-making has been thrown into "chaos" by a September ruling of the board of transport commissioners, the Canadian Pacific railway claimed in the Supreme Court of Canada.

The railway argued yesterday that the board delivered an "unsound" decision in postponing consideration of part of a 20-per-cent railway rate increase application granting an "interim" board of only eight per cent.

Main reasons given by the board for delaying the rate increase were that it wanted to conduct further studies of its own and also receive the report of the current royal commission on transportation. The CPR holds the board failed to do its duty in taking that course and seeks a judgment from the higher court in this effect.

Mr. Carson said that the board's decision was not a final one, and that there was no certainty as to when the royal commission report might be completed and issued. Meanwhile, he contended, the effect of the September judgment was that rail rates were frozen for an indefinite time.

Mr. Carson said that, should the railway undertake a new rate application now, they would be in a position to convert the board's decision into a permanent one. He contended that the board had not finished a case filed with it in July, 1948, when the 20-per-cent application was slushed.

Chief Justice T. Rinfret said that the board's decision should not be final in changing rates until the Royal Commission had reported.

But he said the Royal Commission findings could not become law until parliament acted, and, judging from previous commissions, that might take four or five years. Meanwhile, the board might do nothing.

CPR argument before the court was to continue before the court was to be followed by counsel for seven provinces—all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland—who are opposing the Canadian Pacific attempt to open up the eight-per-cent judgment.

Alta. To Permit Rent Control End

present Dominion controls have brought about.

This matter, accordingly, must be faced by the Province in the near future and it is the opinion of the Alberta Government that the best time to face it is now.

The many dissatisfactions and inequities resulting from the present system of rent controls indicate that it is not in the public interest to perpetuate the present system of controls any longer than can be avoided.

Discriminatory regulations which produce inequities further aggravating the present serious housing problem and tend to retard the development of a natural economic law in hastening its permanent solution.

The desirable goal in this matter is a return as quickly as possible to a free economy, in which landlords and tenants will determine rentals by mutual agreement, free from government interference.

During the transition period and until the abnormal shortage of homes is relieved sufficiently to permit the laws of supply and demand to operate freely, the Government considers it necessary to provide some competent body to arbitrate in those cases where landlord and tenant cannot agree on a mutually acceptable rental and where there is proper evidence to show that either party is attempting to exploit the other.

In accordance with these considerations, the Government proposes to introduce legislation at the forthcoming session to deal with cases of exploitation on the part of either landlords or tenants.

This legislation will not provide for any interference with rentals mutually agreed to by landlord and tenant and the main object will be to secure such mutual agreement, if possible, in all cases that will be covered by the legislation and where a landlord or a tenant may be aggrieved.

SOME CONTROL-FREE

It is not intended that the Provincial legislation should extend to new construction or to properties already decontrolled by the Dominion Government.

When the necessary legislation has been approved at the coming session of the Legislature, the Dominion Government will be required to retire from the field of rent control in Alberta if it is determined by the Courts in the interim that rent control is not within the jurisdiction of the provinces.

U.S. Must Buy More, Howe Warns Group

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(BUP)—The United States must import more from Europe or face one of two alternatives: world trading chaos or continued loans and gifts to Europe, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said last night.

A complete breakdown of world trade was only being prevented by financial assistance of Canada and the United States, he said.

The objective must be to put an end to these loans and gifts and to open up the channels of trade.

If the United States did not absorb more European goods and financial assets, "the alternative is either a collapse of multi-lateral trade, or a continuation of the large scale lending by the United States to provide countries which do not want charity and are able and willing to pay for their needs with goods."

In 1941, Canada was facing much the same dollar shortage as she did today, the trade minister went on. However, the war was then at its peak, and it was agreed that nothing should interfere with the plans for victory.

Through the Hyde Park agreement, Canada and the United States decided that each country should produce what her industry was best suited to manufacture, and that production plans should be co-ordinated, he said.

"The problems we face today are no less serious than those we faced during the war years," he went on. "Unfortunately, the objectives are not as clear and the fundamentals are not as well understood in our two countries."

Applications for the position of Edmonton fire chief are now being sought from among city residents, Mayor Sid Parsons said today. City commissioners have carried out council's instructions to advertise locally for a successor to Fire Chief James Macgregor before advertising nationally and internationally. Notices have been posted in all city firehalls.

Machinery is also in motion to hire 54 new firemen authorized for this year, and one new pump is due to arrive next week.

Applicants for the chief's position, which carries a $12,000 minimum salary with $300 increments to a $15,000 maximum, must state qualifications in writing to city commissioners before Dec. 20.

If no suitable city resident can be found, commissioners will look to other Canadian or United States cities. It is council's intention that the new chief undergo intensive training and orientation for a year before taking over from Chief Macgregor, who retires at the end of 1950.

Increase of $10,000 in Alberta Christmas seal campaign objective this year is due to expanding program, officials pointed out today as Lieut.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, honorary president of the Alberta Seals association, urged support for the campaign.

Mr. Bowen said "steadily declining death rate from tuberculosis bears witness to the effectiveness of activities which are financed yearly by the Christmas seal sale."

Alberta's objective this year is $15,000 or $10,000 higher than last year's receipts. The increase is due to expansion of the "see-a-thing" program through the mobile key units and grants to hospitals for x-ray equipment. Rehabilitation of T.B. patients also requires more money next year.

K. A. Pugh, chairman of the Board of Industrial Relations, announced yesterday that stores in cities, towns and villages may remain open pre-Christmas evenings as they wish.

Employees who work overtime on this account must be paid at the rate of time and a half, and overtime must be reported to the board by Jan. 15.

Speaking on at a hall, exemplifying a number of articles from sales tax. Senator W. D. Eider (Ontario), who sponsored three successive senate bills aimed at removing the ban on margarine, said he was disappointed that margarine was not on the list of the exempted goods.

He urged that the sales tax, which amounted to about three cents a pound, be removed as soon as possible.

Statement of claim for damages totalling $7,709 against Athabasca Utilities Ltd., today was entered in court by J. H. Lands, Edmonton merchant.

The claim is based on alleged negligence by the defendant in not inspecting and correcting faulty gas mains and pipes in and near the Athabasca store building, owned by the plaintiff, which was destroyed by explosion and fire Dec. 10, 1948.

Leo Pekarsky is representing the plaintiff.

Use of the Recreation Commission skating rink at Diamond Park is being sought by the Rokaide Community League to keep neighborhood children from skating on the nearby Saskatchewan river.

At its meeting last night, the community league named James Crowe and Percy J. Gwynne to a committee to approach the commission.

President Eric Wright reported that power plant superintendent W. I. MacFarland had advised that one of the boiler creating flames at the plant had been switched to gas but that alteration of the others would have to be left till next month.

Mrs. W. McFarland reported progress in the auditor's report and the financial position of the league for the month was made by Mrs. J. Crowell.

The city will suffer no financial loss by the test. Mr. Ferrier also announced receipt of five new truck licenses worth $10,000, which will go into operation shortly.

He said all the system's diesel-powered vehicles have been converted to gas.

Special equipment needed on the change to break the liquid down into a gas, and a special carburetor.

Edmonton retail merchants are in a quandary over holiday closing during Christmas week. If provincial and city regulations are observed to the letter, stores have to close all day on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 26 and 27, and also on Wednesday afternoon.

To achieve agreement on the Wednesday afternoon closing, Chamber of Commerce has sent a questionnaire to merchants. Executive secretary Don McKay said he hopes to have the survey completed by this weekend.

Under provincial law governing statutory holidays, retail merchants must close all day Monday and Tuesday when Christmas falls on Sunday. City bylaws call for closing of retail shops on Wednesday afternoon.

Wholesale houses are not obliged to close except on the actual holiday, but wholesalers are also being queried as to their intention, Mr. McKay said.

The chamber secretary pointed out that many Edmonton wholesale salesmen close either all day Saturdays or Saturdays afternoon.

The provincial government has called a meeting of all Alberta city councils for Dec. 20 to discuss the proposed new City Act, and Edmonton city council will probably hold two or three special meetings next week to decide its policy, Mayor Sid Parsons said today.

"The province has asked that city councils be given authority to enunciate council policy on any action which may be contentious," said the mayor.

Chief bone of contention is the proposal to change Edmonton's system of assessment, and to bring Alberta city assessments into conformity. Mayor Parsons said under several changes proposed, home owners would in each case find their taxes increased while business property owners would have their taxes loads eased.

The Clients Write . . .

J. H. Meunwell, 10338-119 street, Edmonton: "Even if you do not like wrestling in your personal capacity and regard it as 'phony-balance'—as your recent writings would seem to indicate—could you not try to serve that not inconsiderable section of the public who do like it by giving more space in your paper to reporting the events as they occur."

"I know a number of out-of-town readers of the Bulletin who are very much interested in wrestling, who attend the presentations when able and who follow the weekly events very keenly."

"These people have been compelled to switch to the (name of paper deleted by censors in Kremlin) simply because that paper devotes a lot more space to reports, photographs and comment on the wrestling each week."

"How about sending one of your staff to the pavilion from now on?"

Comment: See elsewhere in sports section for coverage of last night's grunt-and-groan offerings at Cow Palace. Understand promoter Al Geming tried something new. He had the principals in an exhibition—namely Stu Hart and Earl McCord—confining themselves to straight wrestling, no collars.

Also understand reaction of most of the onlookers (place was packed, incidentally) was: "What're they doin' Tryin' to louse up the joint?"

"Disgusted," Red Deer: "Your recent comments regarding Red Deer's lack of sports interest seemed in very poor taste. After all we pride ourselves on being a debt-free city. So what matter if we don't go in much for sport?"

Comment: Red Deer may be a debt-free city but there doesn't seem to be much "easy" money floating around thereabouts. During two days of horse-racing there last summer mutual "handle" was—hold your hat—a lousy $806.

Eric Bishop, sports editor Trail Times: "Pardon the needle, Stanley, but it's almost Christmas and those Stampedeers 'ain't in the league base, nor anywhere near it."

Comment: Alright, so it looks like we blew one in predicting that Calgary's puck squad would be deep in the cellar by the time St. Nick dropped in. Besides, Mr. Bishop hadn't ought to be so chippy just because of that new rink they opened in Trail the other night.

It'll be years before anyone who saw it in the last 20 years will forget the old one.

Mr. Leo Roberge, Beaumont: "Who played 60 minutes for EAC in 1949?"

Comment: Presumably Mrs. Roberge means in the EAC-Toronto St. Mike's Memorial cup final that year. Unless it's Neil Colville, no other player could have played all the way through either of the two games, carrying over course, goalie Fredy Layet-zhe.

Coach Dan Corrigan alternated Colville between centre and a defence post and might have left him out there from going to gong, particularly in the second game. We'll inquire of Mr. Corrigan.

J. R. Janssen, General Delivery: "As you suggest in tonight's column Riley Mullen may not be a 'homer' but that's more than can be said for you. Vic Myles no more swung deliberately on Don Calley, as you write in your story of the game in the Gardens last Saturday, than I did."

"Even a sportswriter should have been able to see that it was just an accident."

"Why see it Flyers' way all the time? If that isn't being a 'homer' what is?"

Comment: All I know is what I saw, with "mine" own personal (yes, to you). But if it's any consolation to Mr. Janssen understand certain of the Flyers were inclined to give the burly Myles the benefit of the doubt.

M.E.V., City: "Three big cheers for Conny Smylie, a man of action. He sure had the right idea when he took that big, fat Broda out of the Maple Leaf goal and made him shed those eight or nine pounds."

"Incidentally, why don't the men who employ you try something like that on you? Believe me, you could stand it."

Comment: Guess my employers are "Shakespeare men." Warrant it the bard of Avon could say: "Let me have men about me that are fat."

Besides, William Powell had that "Thin Man" role nailed down last time we heard.

'Rockin' Chair Calls Once Great Yankee Star

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7.—(AP)—New York Yankees yesterday cleared the decks for trading by releasing Charlie (King Kong) Keller, an old stadium stonker.

The faded veteran, plagued by a chronic back ailment, was released to take a career in the age of 33 when he accepted his unconditional release after a conference with general manager George Weiss.

Once a member of one of baseball's greatest all-around outfielders with Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich, Keller bows out of the Yankee picture after 16 years of service. The Maryland strong boy, with a lifetime record of 14 home runs, was a member of five Yankee pennant clubs and appeared in three all-star games.

With Keller definitely out of the picture, manager Casey Stengel would like to move Tommie Henrich back to the outfield from first base. Stengel shifted first basemen all last spring until he finally fell back on Henrich.

Strictly Personal

By Earl Givish

Hi! Sport Fans.

Better start doodling those brains, getting out the heavy clothes, fixing those ails, and the general get ready for a belated rush of winter sports. Yip, it looks as though Old Man Winter has finally come. But don't get too eager, 'cause he might only have thrown a taste of it at us.

Anyhow, he promises to be here in full force for Christmas.

Another Maple Leaf grider has turned to hockey. Luke Pringle, local junior guard, is out at Morrisville, playing defence for the intermediate hockey club in that centre. . . a few people have commented on the good job Eak's grid player Dumitri Golosub is doing at the Recreation Commission. "The star," (as the hucksters call him) is pin-balling for Jack Reilly, the sports director having gone home to Scotland for a visit.

Rumar has it that Dan Loucks of Eximies football team, and Bill Kirkwood, coach of E.A.C. junior grid club, will be coaching the anticipated new South Side entry next season in the Junior Football league. Loucks guided Scots' high seniors to the school finals in 1948. . . All the best to Phyllis

Toe Blake Back In Action

SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 7.—(CP)—Old Man Blake, whose dogs ain't what they used to be, brought his Valleyfield Braves into town yesterday and calculated as how he's having lots of luck.

It's no cinch for the 37-year-old coach to take his regular turn on the ice again. But injuries have played havoc with his club he's been forced into action again.

It is just two seasons ago that Hector (Toe) Blake, the "Old Lampighter," closed out a brilliant National Hockey league career—practically 12 full seasons with Montreal Canadiens.

A broken leg finally laid him low and broke up his famous French Line of Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard. Old Toe wanted to hang on a while longer and add to his total of 235 goals in the NHL, but that was so far short of the 333 set by Nels (Old Polson) Stewart of the Montreal Maroons that Toe was talked into a coaching job.

He went to Houston, of the United States Hockey league, and finished out the 1947-48 season. Last season he was coaching Buffalo, of the American league, until he had a disagreement over policy and left. Then he took over coaching Valleyfield, of the Quebec Hockey league.

He has instilled plenty of spirit into his players and at the moment his team is hanging desperately to third place in a circuit that is pretty tough.

Because of injuries, Valleyfield now has only 12 active players. So old Toe has to get out there and do his stuff, aching dogs and all, but still a canny player and a wizard at killing off penalties.

Plan Grid Finale In CNE Stadium

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP)—City of Toronto should press to have the 1950 Grey Cup final played at the Canadian National Exhibition Stadium, it was decided yesterday at a joint meeting of the C.N.E. sports committee and the Civic Park and Exhibition committee.

It has been estimated that 40,000 could be accommodated for the east-west final classic at the CNE. This year's game at Varsity Stadium drew about 21,000.

Plans are being considered to increase Varsity Stadium from its present 25,000 accommodation to more than 50,000 for the 1950 football season.

Elwood Hughes, general manager of the CNE, said the exhibition would "fit its club" to suit the playing of football and other sports at the $4,000,000 grandstand.

The committee said responsibility for assuring that the Grey Cup final go to the grandstand air squarely on the shoulders of Mayor

JACK SHILL TRIGGERMAN

Goes Back 17 Seasons For Speedy Hat Trick

By LORNE BRUCE

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP)—You can throw out all those claims from Johnny-come-latelys for hockey's fastest hat-trick.

Eighteen years ago Jack Shill rattled three goals into the netting in 24 seconds and the record still stands.

Now 36 years old and a coach in Toronto's major commercial league, Shill remembers the occasion clearly.

Shill, then a left-winger on Toronto's Junior Maroons, set the mark before more than 12,000 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens on March 16, 1931, against Sudbury Club Wolves.

Sudbury went on to win the Canadian championship last year.

Shill didn't choose any pushovers. The Blake, former Montreal Canadiens great, was a second string forward for the Sudbury team.

"Each time Jackie May [his cent] passed from a face-off," Shill recalls, "and I carried the puck into the Sudbury zone. . . . Three fired from about 10 feet and I was about a foot off the ice."

The goal smashes with the strict original meaning of a hat-trick—goals on three successive tries. Three goals from cricket and a hat-trick resulted when the bowler retired three opponents on three successive balls.

Shill turned the trick in the first period of the second game of a two-game total-goal series.

Jobless Rate Going Up Fast, Coldwell Says

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The present session of parliament has shown how "crisis" was not the Liberal election promise, Mr. J. Coldwell, CPM leader, said last night.

In a 15-minute, headline broadcast over the CBC, he accused the government of "not meeting its obligations."

Refusing to remove the means test from the unemployment insurance act, he said the government was "not meeting its obligations."

"There are others," he added. "For instance, a couple of weeks ago, our minister of agriculture, Mr. Gardiner, opposed the United Nations proposal for feeding the world's hungry with food surplus."

"He said we should not give away our surplus food. But now, when we are asked to give away our surplus food, he is silent."

"Figures tabled in parliament 10 days ago show that unemployment is increasing rapidly."

He said the government was "not meeting its obligations."

DIAMONDS, weighing a total of more than 1,000 carats, were found in medicine bottles and match boxes in the recently deceased of Mrs. Lillian Marie Moore, after the suicide's death in Chicago recently. Court officials look over the collection of jewelry.

Censorship of Books Is Called Red, Is by 'Foolish' System

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—A prairie schoolteacher launched an angry attack last night on the government's system for banning foreign books but he failed to win any assurance or apology from the cabinet minister responsible, Revenue Minister McCann.

The teacher, Mr. J. H. McKeown, said that the government's system for banning foreign books was "a foolish system."

Pipeline Bills Lose To Tory Filibuster

May Be Talked To Death As House Likely Closes This Week

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—The filibuster against pipeline bills pelted on in the Commons last night.

At the beginning of November two bills asking incorporation of companies to build pipeline across natural gas from Alberta were placed before the Commons for consideration.

For the 13th consecutive time, members last night blocked the bills.

With the likelihood of the session concluding this week, the possibility remains that the two bills will be talked to death.

One of the bills, the Alberta Pipeline Bill, would give the federal government the right to build a pipeline from Alberta to the coast.

The other bill, the Canadian Pipeline Bill, would give the federal government the right to build a pipeline from the coast to the interior.

The bills were introduced by the Conservative government.

$1.25 Millions Build Fish Price

CANADA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Fish prices in Canada are expected to rise sharply in the coming months.

The rise is expected to be due to a combination of factors, including a shortage of fish and a rise in the cost of feed.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Shopping-Bag-Purse New Combo to Sell

By Rex Thrifty

Huzzah for these designed chaps! At last they've delved into their store of tricks and come up with a natty shopping bag-purse combination. And most interesting of all, same shopping purse will be produced locally. Local stores will feature the new ware by the week-end.

At first glance it's a smart little envelope-type hand bag. With close scrutiny you spot a fastener and a fold-out piece which converts arrangement into a durable, roomy shopping bag. The zipped purse compartment is still on the outside flap, easy to get at, safe from harm and not interfering with content of shopping bag.

This versatile gem will sell for $2.00.

With a progressive design, sound acquired in Canada. It is plastic, be frost resistant, water

So we've taken in this new product to look forward to. New shopping purses will be available in this fantastic material. And in a fine variety of shades. As a matter of fact, you'll be able to choose from red, green, black, blue, grey, wine tan and shades of each.

set piece of $2.50 has been put on this clever little item, which incidentally has been awarded the Good Housekeeping seal of approval, if that means anything to you.

With a warm, comfortable, established name, the new shopping bag-purse is a very good thing to have.

DAILY LUBRICATION is a small price to pay for a smooth, lovely complexion all through life.

WHY GROW OLD

Some Women Neglect Their Complexions

By Josephine Lowman

You wouldn't dream of letting your alligator pocket-book and shoes go for long without treating them to some special lubrication.

If you did you would find that they crack fairly soon. They last for years and years, and look just as lovely. If you are faithful in giving them lubrication.

The same thing is true of your skin. Dry skin cracks and forms lines while a soft, well-lubricated skin can better withstand your smiles and your frowns and the weathering process.

Women know this to a certain extent but many of them fail to realize what a difference this can make. Beauty salons in New York can often tell that a woman comes from a certain part of the country because of her complexion.

YOUR BABY AND MINE Need for Weaning Has Definite Symptoms

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The importance of breast feeding cannot be minimized but there comes a time when it is essential that the baby no longer depends on the mother for sustenance.

Nature ordains that at about the sixth month of life the baby shows its dissatisfaction plainly.

Weaning the baby need not be a troublesome task if before this time he has made the acquaintance of bottle or cup. He should have been introduced to the bottle as early as the second month and by four months should be proficient at drinking from it.

If the child still will not drink from a cup, then the weaning may be done to this unit.

But if the baby is well under six months and does not drink well from a bottle, it might be wiser to wait to wean to a bottle and continue this for a few months more. It depends entirely on your baby.

The symptoms of the need for weaning are: the baby's weight decrease in weight extending over the period of a week or two with no other factors to account for it.

And, most of all, it will be probable that the baby will wake up in the night, once or twice and cry to be fed, though up to this time he had been sleeping nicely through the night.

It is well, if the weaning is to be completed hastily, because of the least breast milk to omit regular nursing once or twice a day and substitute bottles. If the weaning is to be completed gradually, the interval between nursings is as long as eight hours, the breasts will soon cease to lactate.

If the weaning can be managed in more leisurely fashion, then try to breast feed at each feeding time, followed by a bottle, or part of a bottle. This partial breast feeding can be continued for long enough for the baby to get used to the new way of feeding and not resent it when the breast feedings are ended.

Our latest No. 21 "Weaning the Baby" has been revised and is now available. It is a very small price to pay for such nice results.

along with just realize that she is having the time of her life harassing you.

Just let her alone. Let her have her own sweet way and reap the consequences of it for a while. Neglect her. There won't be a bit of fun in raising child if she is left to it by her housemate.

Evidently you and the little girl need to be parted for a while. Send her to a good summer camp.

I have seen that work wonders in a child. And when she comes back treat her as if she was a grown-up. That will put it up to her to act like one.

Children are peculiarly sensitive to suggestion. They try to live up to what you think they are.

If you are always telling them they are little bellows, little bellows they will be to justify their reputation.

Children love the limelight and there is no way you can discipline them quicker than just by turning it off them. So if your little girl is obstreperous and hard to get
